

driving the Federals back in town and taking possession of the custom houses.

Carrying the fight into Juarez, the rebels entered the town and for four hours kept up a continuous fire. Insurrector reinforcements reached the bridge later in the afternoon, but did not fire. They withdrew at night under orders from their chiefs.

Killed on American Side.

Not a few Americans were among those who entered Juarez. The first person killed on the American side of the line was Antonio Garcia, who was standing by the side of the Associated Press correspondent, about 200 yards from the advancing insurrectos across the river. A woman sitting on a porch several blocks from the city was hit in the wrist and the abdomen by two bullets.

About 6 o'clock to-night two Americans were killed near the Santa Fe bridge. The name of one is supposed to be Campy, and the other is said to be Nebraska, while the other had on his person a memorandum reading:

"R. H. Ferguson, Troop F, Third Cavalry, San Francisco."

The names of the others killed have not been learned.

Glen Chesman, of Shreveport, La.; Mrs. Joseph Moorehead, Edmund Heaton and Luis Villalobos, of El Paso, were among those who were wounded, but not fatally.

There was occasional firing to-night into Juarez, but General Navarro seemed to be in complete command. In the main insurrecto camp to-day confusion reigned. Orders were given for a general attack, but they were countermanded. It was argued by some of the rebel chiefs that since a small detachment had made such progress, it was the duty of the rest of the army to aid the attackers.

General Navarro wavered in his decision, but finally decided to stand by his promise of last night not to attack the city.

Flares of smoke suffered grossly during the day. An insurrecto who bore one was shot from his horse. Those who were trying to persuade General Navarro to make a general attack, it was said, reported that the Federals had fired on the truce bearer, but this was not confirmed.

General Navarro was willing during the day at any hour to accept an armistice, but the insurrectos ignored all efforts in that direction.

"Berry's for Clothes"

For that stag affair here's the Tuxedo Coat at $22—Trousers, $8.

The special black and white vest to go with it is here at $6.

Yes, ties to match and the shirt with a thousand plaits and the black silk hose—all here, all ready, all right.

The Tuxedo hat, too.

The fit, finish and fabric are the best—Berry-made.

Dr. H. D. Denny

can border are powerless to protect Americans within range of bullets falling in and around El Paso from Mexican rifles.

"All we can do," said Major-General Wood, chief of staff of the army, to-night, "is to keep our people out of the danger zone as far as possible and protect to the bitter end against firing in our direction. Without authority from Congress the army cannot cross the border, no matter what happens."

Administration officials are watching the constantly changing situation with deep and anxious interest. News that hostilities had been resumed was received at the White House this afternoon with obvious surprise and disappointment. The announcement that President Diaz would resign upon the restoration of peace, followed immediately by the recall of the revolutionist vanguard on march for the City of Mexico, had given rise to hope that the worst was over and peace at last was in sight. The President's recall called for a belief that Diaz's promises to-day that he believed Diaz's promises would be accepted in good faith by the insurrectos. A manifesto to the Mexican people, he thought, would be taken as the surest indication that Diaz would keep his word. And since this was the only thing upon which the revolutionists have been most insistent, it was believed that Madero could not continue fighting.

The President's attitude as to intervention is just what it has been since the troops were sent to Mexico. Without action of Congress there can be no intervention. Though the State Department received practically no advice to-day or to-night, the War Department is keeping in close touch with El Paso through the army officers.

However, nothing can be added to the instructions which were given when it became known that another battle was imminent. The only orders were that Americans were to be kept as far as possible away from the firing line.

Madero Changes His Mind.

El Paso, Texas, May 8.—At 1 o'clock General Madero announced that he would begin at sunset a general attack on Juarez. He gave no explanation, but it was believed that the exact wording of the Diaz manifesto reached here to-day, and proved highly unsatisfactory to the rebels.

General Madero at 1:20 o'clock changed his mind, and said he would not attack Juarez. The Federals were reported to have stopped firing. It was believed that the Federals had shot the insurrecto truce-bearer, but it could not be confirmed. Many of the Federal dead can be seen lying in the streets.

The small detachment which broke away from the main command gained possession of the building portion of Juarez. Colonel Steever ordered all United States troops to the scene of the fighting. He made a report to the War Department of the failure of his project against shooting into American territory.

Bullets came into El Paso thick and fast near the Santa Fe bridge, which joins the two towns.

To the truce-bearer who went from General Madero's headquarters the insurrectos replied that they would stop fighting only when they took Juarez.

Firing Resumed.

At 5:15 o'clock the firing was resumed, the whole insurgent insurrecto detachment opening fire simultaneously. Thousands of bullets in direct line of the bullets into the American bank, though United States troops tried to keep them from exposed places.

The insurrectos entered Juarez as far as the bull ring. The main column of the rebels advanced toward the city and the general attack was on.

The artillery of both sides was brought into action, the reports of the cannon being incessant. The insurrectos have control of both bridges leading from Juarez to the United States.

The insurrectos took all the custom houses but one, all bridges and the bull ring. The streets of Juarez are said to be covered with dead and wounded. The United States custom house was hit by several times.

At 7:10 o'clock General Madero returned to his headquarters and denied that the attack was general. He said he was making every effort to stop the battle, and that those fighting had disobeyed orders. The rest of the insurrecto army, however, is holding itself in readiness to aid their comrades.

At 9 o'clock to-night the firing was resumed, but intermittently. The insurrectos were said to be still fighting in Juarez.

Must Not Cross Border.

Washington, May 8.—Unless Congress takes a hand in the situation, the United States forces on the Mexican border are powerless to protect Americans within range of bullets falling in and around El Paso from Mexican rifles.

"All we can do," said Major-General Wood, chief of staff of the army, to-night, "is to keep our people out of the danger zone as far as possible and protect to the bitter end against firing in our direction. Without authority from Congress the army cannot cross the border, no matter what happens."

Administration officials are watching the constantly changing situation with deep and anxious interest. News that hostilities had been resumed was received at the White House this afternoon with obvious surprise and disappointment. The announcement that President Diaz would resign upon the restoration of peace, followed immediately by the recall of the revolutionist vanguard on march for the City of Mexico, had given rise to hope that the worst was over and peace at last was in sight. The President's recall called for a belief that Diaz's promises to-day that he believed Diaz's promises would be accepted in good faith by the insurrectos. A manifesto to the Mexican people, he thought, would be taken as the surest indication that Diaz would keep his word. And since this was the only thing upon which the revolutionists have been most insistent, it was believed that Madero could not continue fighting.

The President's attitude as to intervention is just what it has been since the troops were sent to Mexico. Without action of Congress there can be no intervention. Though the State Department received practically no advice to-day or to-night, the War Department is keeping in close touch with El Paso through the army officers.

However, nothing can be added to the instructions which were given when it became known that another battle was imminent. The only orders were that Americans were to be kept as far as possible away from the firing line.

Official Bewildered.

Mexico City, May 8.—With no other information as to the rebel movements than that contained in the Associated Press dispatches regarding the katelodiscopic changes at Juarez, government officials to-night betrayed complete bewilderment. It was with the utmost complacency that they viewed the situation this morning. They were confident that the manifesto of President Diaz as to his resignation would prove so satisfactory to Madero that negotiations would be resumed. At the Foreign Office, it was announced this afternoon that arrangements had been begun.

Later came the news that an attack on Juarez had been begun. The confusion created by this news gave place to satisfaction when it appeared that Madero had been able to control his men and that General Navarro had arranged an armistice.

That the peace negotiations, then announced for 1 o'clock, had been arranged for was news received with relief. This feeling, however, was dispelled when the report came that a general attack was in progress, and alarm was manifested when it was reported that General Navarro had been wounded.

To-night, General Diaz consulted with the Minister of War and other members of his Cabinet regarding the new turn of affairs.

In official circles it was pointed out that Madero this afternoon demonstrated that what the government has contended for since the beginning was a fact: That he is unable to control the army he has gathered, and that the greatest menace on this account is anarchy rather than civil war.

It was suggested that if he were unable to control the men under his immediate command, there was little chance that he would be able to direct the rebel bands in other parts of the republic. In defense of the Diaz manifesto, officials to-night stated that the President foresaw and endeavored to avert.

The activity manifested at the War Department this morning was still more evident to-night, and the conversation of army officers was of anything but peace.

In spite of disquieting reports from the border, they yet expressed confidence in the ability of the Federal army to meet the general situation.

At the War Department and throughout the city, the coming of General Navarro from Europe was a topic frequently discussed. It now appears that official Mexico looks to that warrior more than to any one else for the pacification of the country. The great excitement since the beginning of the insurrection prevailed in the capital and throughout the country. A new situation of Madero was everywhere. His conduct was approved by loyalists in the sense

ARE YOU FREE FROM—

Headaches, Colds, Indigestion, Pains, Constipation, Sour Stomach, Dizziness? If you are not, the most effective, prompt and pleasant method of getting rid of them is to take, now and then, a desertspoonful of the ever refreshing and truly beneficial laxative remedy—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna. It is well known throughout the world as the best of family laxative remedies, because it acts so gently and strengthens naturally without irritating the system in any way.

To get its beneficial effects it is always necessary to buy the genuine, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., bearing the name of the Company, plainly printed on the front of every package.

Dr. George B. Steel

DENTIST.

Office and Residence, 400 East Main St., Richmond, Va.

INCREASE

Your business by judicious advertising. Our advice is free, our plans are complete, results are assured.

Freeman Advertising Agency,

Natural Building, Richmond, - Virginia.

can border are powerless to protect Americans within range of bullets falling in and around El Paso from Mexican rifles.

"All we can do," said Major-General Wood, chief of staff of the army, to-night, "is to keep our people out of the danger zone as far as possible and protect to the bitter end against firing in our direction. Without authority from Congress the army cannot cross the border, no matter what happens."

Administration officials are watching the constantly changing situation with deep and anxious interest. News that hostilities had been resumed was received at the White House this afternoon with obvious surprise and disappointment. The announcement that President Diaz would resign upon the restoration of peace, followed immediately by the recall of the revolutionist vanguard on march for the City of Mexico, had given rise to hope that the worst was over and peace at last was in sight. The President's recall called for a belief that Diaz's promises to-day that he believed Diaz's promises would be accepted in good faith by the insurrectos. A manifesto to the Mexican people, he thought, would be taken as the surest indication that Diaz would keep his word. And since this was the only thing upon which the revolutionists have been most insistent, it was believed that Madero could not continue fighting.

The President's attitude as to intervention is just what it has been since the troops were sent to Mexico. Without action of Congress there can be no intervention. Though the State Department received practically no advice to-day or to-night, the War Department is keeping in close touch with El Paso through the army officers.

However, nothing can be added to the instructions which were given when it became known that another battle was imminent. The only orders were that Americans were to be kept as far as possible away from the firing line.

Madero Changes His Mind.

El Paso, Texas, May 8.—At 1 o'clock General Madero announced that he would begin at sunset a general attack on Juarez. He gave no explanation, but it was believed that the exact wording of the Diaz manifesto reached here to-day, and proved highly unsatisfactory to the rebels.

General Madero at 1:20 o'clock changed his mind, and said he would not attack Juarez. The Federals were reported to have stopped firing. It was believed that the Federals had shot the insurrecto truce-bearer, but it could not be confirmed. Many of the Federal dead can be seen lying in the streets.

The small detachment which broke away from the main command gained possession of the building portion of Juarez. Colonel Steever ordered all United States troops to the scene of the fighting. He made a report to the War Department of the failure of his project against shooting into American territory.

Bullets came into El Paso thick and fast near the Santa Fe bridge, which joins the two towns.

To the truce-bearer who went from General Madero's headquarters the insurrectos replied that they would stop fighting only when they took Juarez.

Firing Resumed.

At 5:15 o'clock the firing was resumed, the whole insurgent insurrecto detachment opening fire simultaneously. Thousands of bullets in direct line of the bullets into the American bank, though United States troops tried to keep them from exposed places.

The insurrectos entered Juarez as far as the bull ring. The main column of the rebels advanced toward the city and the general attack was on.

The artillery of both sides was brought into action, the reports of the cannon being incessant. The insurrectos have control of both bridges leading from Juarez to the United States.

The insurrectos took all the custom houses but one, all bridges and the bull ring. The streets of Juarez are said to be covered with dead and wounded. The United States custom house was hit by several times.

At 7:10 o'clock General Madero returned to his headquarters and denied that the attack was general. He said he was making every effort to stop the battle, and that those fighting had disobeyed orders. The rest of the insurrecto army, however, is holding itself in readiness to aid their comrades.

At 9 o'clock to-night the firing was resumed, but intermittently. The insurrectos were said to be still fighting in Juarez.

Must Not Cross Border.

Washington, May 8.—Unless Congress takes a hand in the situation, the United States forces on the Mexican border are powerless to protect Americans within range of bullets falling in and around El Paso from Mexican rifles.

"All we can do," said Major-General Wood, chief of staff of the army, to-night, "is to keep our people out of the danger zone as far as possible and protect to the bitter end against firing in our direction. Without authority from Congress the army cannot cross the border, no matter what happens."

Administration officials are watching the constantly changing situation with deep and anxious interest. News that hostilities had been resumed was received at the White House this afternoon with obvious surprise and disappointment. The announcement that President Diaz would resign upon the restoration of peace, followed immediately by the recall of the revolutionist vanguard on march for the City of Mexico, had given rise to hope that the worst was over and peace at last was in sight. The President's recall called for a belief that Diaz's promises to-day that he believed Diaz's promises would be accepted in good faith by the insurrectos. A manifesto to the Mexican people, he thought, would be taken as the surest indication that Diaz would keep his word. And since this was the only thing upon which the revolutionists have been most insistent, it was believed that Madero could not continue fighting.

The President's attitude as to intervention is just what it has been since the troops were sent to Mexico. Without action of Congress there can be no intervention. Though the State Department received practically no advice to-day or to-night, the War Department is keeping in close touch with El Paso through the army officers.

However, nothing can be added to the instructions which were given when it became known that another battle was imminent. The only orders were that Americans were to be kept as far as possible away from the firing line.

Official Bewildered.

Mexico City, May 8.—With no other information as to the rebel movements than that contained in the Associated Press dispatches regarding the katelodiscopic changes at Juarez, government officials to-night betrayed complete bewilderment. It was with the utmost complacency that they viewed the situation this morning. They were confident that the manifesto of President Diaz as to his resignation would prove so satisfactory to Madero that negotiations would be resumed. At the Foreign Office, it was announced this afternoon that arrangements had been begun.

Later came the news that an attack on Juarez had been begun. The confusion created by this news gave place to satisfaction when it appeared that Madero had been able to control his men and that General Navarro had arranged an armistice.

That the peace negotiations, then announced for 1 o'clock, had been arranged for was news received with relief. This feeling, however, was dispelled when the report came that a general attack was in progress, and alarm was manifested when it was reported that General Navarro had been wounded.

To-night, General Diaz consulted with the Minister of War and other members of his Cabinet regarding the new turn of affairs.

In official circles it was pointed out that Madero this afternoon demonstrated that what the government has contended for since the beginning was a fact: That he is unable to control the army he has gathered, and that the greatest menace on this account is anarchy rather than civil war.

It was suggested that if he were unable to control the men under his immediate command, there was little chance that he would be able to direct the rebel bands in other parts of the republic. In defense of the Diaz manifesto, officials to-night stated that the President foresaw and endeavored to avert.

The activity manifested at the War Department this morning was still more evident to-night, and the conversation of army officers was of anything but peace.

In spite of disquieting reports from the border, they yet expressed confidence in the ability of the Federal army to meet the general situation.

At the War Department and throughout the city, the coming of General Navarro from Europe was a topic frequently discussed. It now appears that official Mexico looks to that warrior more than to any one else for the pacification of the country. The great excitement since the beginning of the insurrection prevailed in the capital and throughout the country. A new situation of Madero was everywhere. His conduct was approved by loyalists in the sense

ARE YOU FREE FROM—

Headaches, Colds, Indigestion, Pains, Constipation, Sour Stomach, Dizziness? If you are not, the most effective, prompt and pleasant method of getting rid of them is to take, now and then, a desertspoonful of the ever refreshing and truly beneficial laxative remedy—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna. It is well known throughout the world as the best of family laxative remedies, because it acts so gently and strengthens naturally without irritating the system in any way.

To get its beneficial effects it is always necessary to buy the genuine, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., bearing the name of the Company, plainly printed on the front of every package.

Dr. George B. Steel

DENTIST.

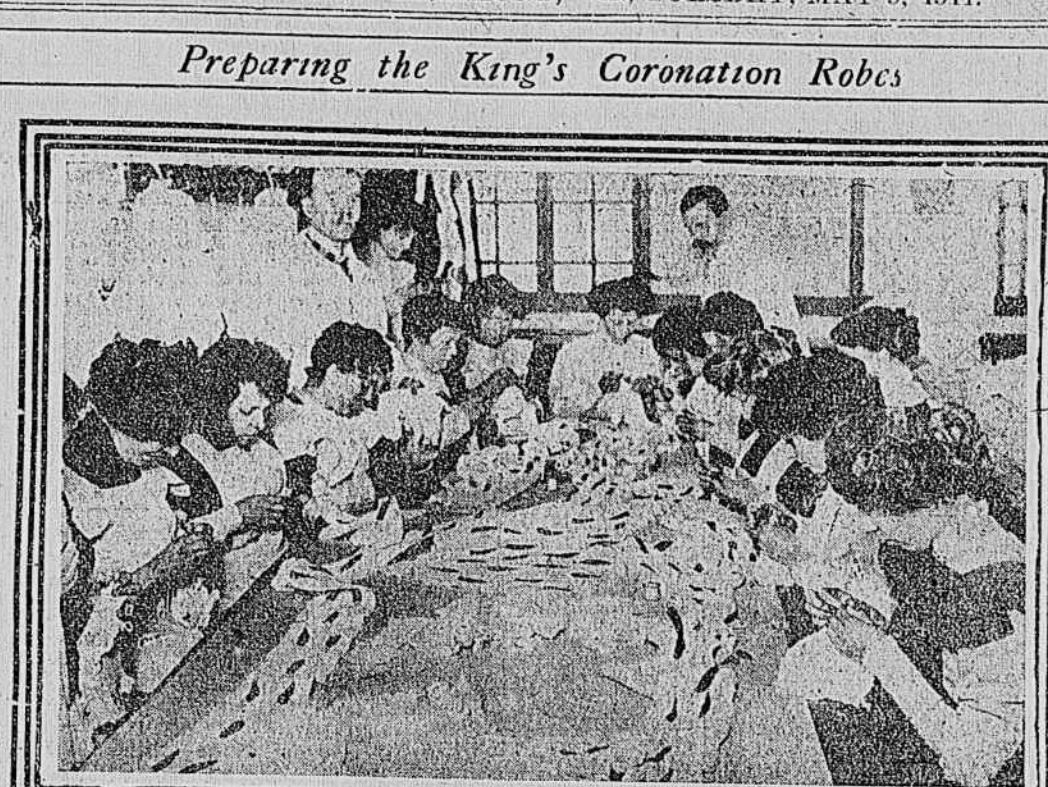

Office and Residence, 400 East Main St., Richmond, Va.

INCREASE

Your business by judicious advertising. Our advice is free, our plans are complete, results are assured.

Freeman Advertising Agency,

Natural Building, Richmond, - Virginia.

Preparing the King's Coronation Robes

Sewing machine for King George's coronation robes. (Copyright, American Press Ass'n.)

Captured by Rebels.

Vera Cruz, Mexico, May 8.—A telegram was received to-day telling of the capture of Tamalipico by rebels. No details were given. Tamalipico is near the port of Tuxtepec.

Dragged Through Streets.

Mexico City, May 8.—Dragged through the streets of the little town of Metepex, Puebla, at the end of a lariat tied to the saddle horn of an insurrecto, Faustino Diaz Caneja, a Spaniard, escaped death Saturday by the merest chance. Thinking his life a workman in the employment of Caneja ran forward before the band of rebels and cut the lariat. The injured man was taken to Puebla for treatment. Caneja is the manager of a textile mill at Metepex. Several hundred rebels appeared at the mill and demanded money. He gave them $1,500, all there was in the safe. The insurrectos rode on. Later another band attempted to force a loan. Angered at his reply that there was no money, they tied Caneja at the end of a lariat and started to drag him.

Following the cutting of the rope a small force of rurales arrived and engaged the rebels. It was a short fight, and the rurales were victorious. Sixteen of the rurales and workmen at the mills were killed.

Fourth Battle Planned.

Douglas, Ariz., May 8.—With Juarez under fire, the insurrecto bands in Sonora are moving up the Nacozari valley for the fourth battle of Agua Prieta. The rebel leaders, with the breaking of the armistice, dispatched couriers to all rebel camps calling for a concentration of insurrectos. Among those expected to take part in the attack are Rojas, with his command of 100 men at Pinar, near Nacozari; Juan Cabrer and his large band, stationed west of Pinar; Antonio Garcia, with 600 men, who are believed to have united to-day with Cabrer's forces; and Escobedo, who, with 500 men, surrounds Montezuma. In addition to these forces, there are many bands of smaller size, and if all were brought together in response to the plan of concentration they would make a large army.

ALLEGED POLICY SHOP

William Hollins, charged with running Negro's favorite game of chance, William Hollins, colored, was arrested yesterday on a charge of running a policy shop at Tenth and Cary Streets. He was caught by Sergeant Zimmer and Mounted Officer Jordan, who confiscated his books and other paraphernalia.

This is the first time that an alleged policy shop has been raided for nearly a year. The game of chance, which is now discredited here as the green tree, had become unpopular by reason of the activity of the police.

FOOD IN SERMONS

Feed the Dominic Right and the Sermons Are Brilliant.

A conscientious, hard-working and successful clergyman writes: "I am glad to bear testimony to the pleasure and increased measure of efficiency and health that have come to me from adopting Grape-Nuts food as one of my articles of diet."

"For several years I was much distressed during the early part of each day by indigestion. My breakfast seemed to turn sour and failed to digest. After dinner the headache and other symptoms followed the breakfast would wear away, only to return, however, next morning."

"Having heard of Grape-Nuts food, I finally concluded to give it a trial. I made my breakfasts of Grape-Nuts with cream toast and Postum. The result was surprising in improved health and total absence of the distress that had, for so long a time, followed the morning meal."

"My digestion became once more satisfactory, the headaches ceased, and the food feeling of energy returned. Since that time I have always had Grape-Nuts food on my breakfast table."

"I was delighted to find also that whereas before I began to use Grape-Nuts food I was quite nervous and became easily wearied in the work of preparing sermons, in study, a marked improvement in this respect resulted from the change in my diet."

"I am convinced that Grape-Nuts food produced this result and helped me to a sturdy condition of mental and physical strength."

"I have known of several persons who were formerly troubled as I was, and who have been helped as I have been, by the use of Grape-Nuts food, on my recommendation. Name given by Postum Company, Battle Creek, Mich."

Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pgs. "There's a Reason." Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true and full of human interest.

RETURNS AFTER CIRCLING GLOBE

Dr. Bell Tells of Aeroplanes Carrying the Mails in India.

New York, May 8.—Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, the inventor of the telephone, returned to-day on the Celtic after a year spent in travel around the world. He was accompanied by Mrs. Bell, the pier to meet the distinguished inventor were Glenn Curtiss, J. A. D. McCurdy, the aviators, and a number of relatives.

It was on May 6 last year that Mr. Bell left Washington for his tour of the world. He sailed from Vancouver on the Makura and visited Honolulu, Tasmannia, New Zealand, the Philippines, China and the principal cities of northern India. From Bombay he sailed for Marselle and also visited Italy and Paris. He found the telephone in great use in China, where, on account of the many characters in the Chinese language, the telephone was preferred to the telegraph.

The inventor was enthusiastic about the system of government which he found in Tasmannia, and as an indication of widespread people he instigated an aero club in Auckland. Even in India there is an aeroplane which carries the mail. This is more or less of an experiment at present, but he mentioned to show how progressive the people are.

In Italy Mr. Bell had a ride on the hydroplane, which has been invented by Forlanini. This machine weighs two tons and has a 100-horsepower engine.

While abroad the inventor said that he missed the news of the day. He said that no where like in the United States is there such facility for handling and disseminating daily happenings.

Weaving gold lace for the King's coronation robes. This is a very slow process, only about ten inches of the lace being a man's daily output. Solid gold threads are used for the lace. (Copyright, American Press Ass'n.)

DEMOCRATS WILL FIGHT MARTINISM

New Revolt Against Norfolk County Fusion Springs Into Life.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Norfolk, Va., May 8.—A new revolt against Norfolk county fusionism, which has been smoldering for more than a year, burst into a flame to-day, when fifty straightout Democrats met and organized for another effort to defeat Alvan H. Martin, county clerk and Republican National Committee man, and his Democratic cohorts. A central campaign committee was organized, the personnel of which will be announced in a few days. Mr. Martin will be opposed by the strongest Democrat in the county, Maurice G. Long, the new straightout leader, predicted. Victory in primaries is predicted, but the real battle comes in the general election. Hundreds of straightouts have paid their poll taxes this year. A half-dozen Democratic clubs have held meetings weekly, and the most determined struggle of a decade will be made to oust Martin and his "fusion machine."

The funeral will take place from Central Methodist Church, South Richmond. The hour will be announced later.

Mrs. Josie Wilkinson.

Mrs. Josie Wilkinson, wife of J. Samuel Wilkinson, died yesterday at her residence, 311 North Thirty-third Street. She was thirty-eight years of age.

The funeral will take place from the residence at 3:15 o'clock this afternoon.

Jacob Goldstein.

Jacob Goldstein died suddenly yesterday at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. H. F. Fannin, in the sixtieth year of his age.

The funeral will be held from St. Peter's Catholic Church at 10 o'clock this morning. Interment will be in Mount Calvary Cemetery.

Louis C. Elliott.

Louis C. Elliott, formerly of this city, died on May 4 at San Diego, Cal. The funeral will be held from St. Peter's Catholic Church at 10 o'clock this morning. Interment will be in Mount Calvary Cemetery.

Cleanliness in the house means more soap and water. Many places about the house favor foul odors and foster germ growth. Use.

Platt's Chlorides

The Odorless Disinfectant. To employ ill-smelling disinfectants which advertise their presence is to invite suspicion and criticism.

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signature of and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy.

Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but Experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is Pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. It destroys Worms and allays Feverishness. It cures Diarrhoea and Wind Colic. It relieves Teething Troubles, cures Constipation and Flatulency. It assimilates the Food, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Panacea—The Mother's Friend.

GENUINE CASTORIA ALWAYS

Bears the Signature of

Chas. H. Fletcher.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

In Use For Over 30 Years

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

body, accompanied by his sister, will arrive in Richmond on Thursday, when the interment will be in Hollywood.

David W. Barker.

David W. Barker, sixty-seven years old, a native of Rockbridge county, but who has been an inmate of the Confederate Soldiers' Home since 1934, died Sunday night. He leaves two brothers—Thomas and Joseph—ages of Buffalo Forge, Va. The funeral will take place this morning at 11 o'clock at the Home Chapel. Interment will be in the soldiers' section of Hollywood Cemetery. Mr. Barker served through the War between the States as a member of Company H, Fourth Virginia Infantry.

Benjamin Dillard.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Spotsylvania, Va., May 8.—Benjamin Dillard, of the county, died a few days ago at his residence here, after an extended illness, aged sixty-three years. He leaves surviving him four sons and three daughters, all of whom live in the county.

L. H. Stephenson.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Monterey, Va., May 8.—L. H. Stephenson, one of the most prominent men of Highland, and widely known throughout the State as a lawyer and business man, died this morning at his home in this place. He leaves a wife and four children. He was a Confederate veteran and for thirty years Commonwealth's attorney of Highland county. He was the wealthiest man in Highland.

Mrs. Margaret Sullivan.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Harrisonburg, Va., May 8.—Mrs. Margaret Sullivan, aged fifty-five, widow of James Sullivan, died to-day. She was Miss Price, of Smithsburg, Md. She leaves for children and two sisters, including Mrs. H. B. Boone, of Huntington, W. Va.

Deaths at Hampton.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Hampton, Va., May 8.—Mrs. Martha Lee Young, sixty-eight years old, died in her home, "Brightfield," to-day, near Fort Monroe. She was a daughter of the late Baker Perkins, of York county. Five children survive her.

Mrs. Charles S. Conkling, forty-three years old, died to-day in Holt Street. Her husband and five children survive.

Mrs. C. F. Jenkins, of Phoebus, to-day received a telegram announcing the death of her mother, Mrs. Henry Curle, in North Carolina.

Ernest E. Stover.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Salem, Va., May 8.—Ernest Emory Stover, aged forty-three years, died Sunday at 7:30 o'clock at his home on Tennessee Street, after a long illness of tuberculosis and heart trouble. He was a son of the late D. C. Stover. He is survived by his mother, one brother, J. G. Stover, two sisters—Miss Verna, of Salem, and Mrs. W. S. Baskerville, of St. Paul, Minn.

Charlie Tweedy.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Appomattox, Va., May 8.—Charlie Tweedy, aged thirty years, died here to-day after a lingering illness. He is survived by his wife, mother, three brothers—John, Walter and Cohn—and one sister—Mrs. Mary O'Brien. Mrs. Annie Cawthron, Misses Lela and Laura Tweedy. He was a member of the Brotherhood of Firemen, which order will have charge of the interment at the old Sears burying ground to-morrow.

Funeral of Mrs. Beattie.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Bristol, Va., May 8.—The body of Mrs. George A. C. Beattie, who went to Colorado Springs recently with the hope of prolonging her life, was brought to Glade Spring to-day. Mrs. Beattie died May 2, aged sixty-one years. Her husband, four sons and four daughters survive.

Funeral of Mrs. Branson.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Winchester, Va., May 8.—The remains of Mrs. Nancy Holmes Branson, widow of Nathaniel Branson, of Frederick county, who died at the home of her son, Dr. Joseph Holmes Branson, in Washington, to-night for burial to-morrow in the Friends' burying ground at Hopewell. She was born and reared in Loudoun county, and leaves one son and one daughter.

Wilson D. Wood.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Crozet, Va., May 8.—Wilson D. Wood, a prominent farmer of Doyleville, died Saturday morning, in his seventy-eighth year, and was buried from his late residence at the old family graveyard. The services were conducted by Rev. C. E. Watts. He is survived by his widow and five children.

Mrs. W. H. Sampell.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Harrisonburg, Va., May 8.—Mrs. Sampell, forty-six years old, wife of Rev. W. H. Sampell, a well-known United Brethren minister, died Saturday night in Elkton, Rockingham county, of Bright's disease. She was Miss I. W. Simmons, of Franklin, Va., and leaves nine children, including James and Asbury, of Washington, D. C., the latter a well-known railway mail clerk. She leaves five brothers, among them Oscar Simmons, of Portsmouth.

Nathaniel Breeden.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Harrisonburg, Va., May 8.—Nathaniel Breeden, eighty-three years old, died yesterday near a son, Rockingham county. He was a Confederate veteran. He leaves his widow and five children, including Frank, of Roanoke, a mail clerk on the Norfolk and Western, and several sisters and brothers, including Rufus, of Breeden and Mrs. Susan Enghough, both of Richmond.

Mrs. Alice C. Dunton.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Lancaster, Va., May 8.—Mrs. Alice Catherine Dunton, widow of Christopher S. Dunton, died several days ago at her home, in the southern part of her age, leaving five sons and one daughter and a large number of grandchildren. A large crowd attended the funeral services, which were conducted by her pastor, the Rev. J. D. Hoizer, of the Methodist Church, assisted by the Rev. C. A. Hall, of the Baptist Church. Her remains were interred in the Baptist Cemetery at Whitesides beside those of her late husband.

DEATHS

WILKINSON.—Died, at her late residence, 311 North Thirty-third Street, Monday, May 8, JOSEPH WILKINSON, wife of J. Samuel Wilkinson, in the thirty-eighth year of her age. Funeral will take place from the late residence, THIS (TUESDAY) AFTERNOON at 3:15 o'clock. Friends and acquaintances invited to attend.

GOLDSTEIN.—Died, suddenly, at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. H. F. Fannin, in the sixtieth year of his age. Funeral will take place from St. Peter's Catholic Church at 10 o'clock TUESDAY MORNING. Burial in Mt. Calvary Cemetery.

ELIETT.—Died, May 4, at San Diego, California, LOUIS C. ELIETT, formerly of this city. His remains, accompanied by his sister, will arrive in Richmond on Thursday, when the interment will be in Hollywood.

BURNS.—Died, at her residence, 607 North Fourth Street, Sunday at 8:45 P. M. KATIE I. BURNS. Funeral from St. Peter's Catholic Church at 10 o'clock TUESDAY MORNING. Burial in Mt. Calvary Cemetery.

BROWN.—Died, in Charleston, South Carolina, at 3:15 P. M., May 8, H. B. BROWN, a former resident of the Southside. He leaves four sisters. Funeral notice later.

The Guerrant Hotel

RICHMOND, VA.

Will open May 15th, under new management. Special attention given to the table, a celebrated chef, famous for his excellent dishes, with the personal attention of the proprietor, who has long experience in the hotel business, insures the patrons of the best table and table in the city. I invite the friends of the hotel to allow me to enter to their comfort. Rates per day, $2 and up. Special rates per month. W. B. Guerrant, Proprietor.

Tutt's Pills

will save the dyspeptic from many days of misery, and enable him to eat whatever he wishes. They prevent SICK HEADACHE, cause the food to assimilate and nourish the body, give keen appetite, DEVELOP FLESH and solid muscle. Elegantly sugar coated. Take No Substitute.

The Best

No one feature in the construction of a house is so unsatisfactory as cheap plumbing. The modern high-grade plumbing is a source of comfort, pleasure and health to the entire household.

McGraw-Yarbrough Co.

122 S. Eighth St., - Richmond, Va. Out-of-town orders shipped quickly.